Posted by YazooGang on Sat, 24 Oct 2009 18:20:43 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Goztow wrote on Fri, 23 October 2009 08:54To be honest, ask yourself this question: do I really need to start a server when over 80 % of the current servers are already there, empty?

If the answer to this is "yes" for you, then ask yourself this question: do I really want to spend a couple of hours to setup my server while it won't be used? If your answer is "yes", then I suggest you uset hose hours to figure things out with the help of the existing stickies in the win32fds subforum.
Actualy, the empty ones are the ones that are like old, boring aow sniping ones. In these days, modded aows, rpg and even build servers get a good amount of players.