Subject: Riva tuner?
Posted by Clark Kent on Fri, 05 Mar 2010 03:52:08 GMT

Ok so I was checking out my windows side bar to see what kinda gadgets I could get as I never actually used it before...

I found one that was supposed to show the temperature inside my laptop. When I got it on my sidebar it said, "Error: Failed to connect to RivaTuner. Please start RivaTuner and actuvate the low-level monitoring module"...

This laptop has a ATI Radeon HD 3200 graphics card, and when I googled RivaTuner, the results made it sound like it would work with my card... but when I click on the links I keep getting "page can not be displayed"... I have clicked on all the links I could find and none work.

Can someone please tell me where to get this RivaTuner thing at, or if they know for sure it wouldn't work with my card (so I don't waste more time)?