It may be, but whatever...if you have enough of the same people things will work out in the end. Which we have. Going to be weird starting over, but the guys have pulled together pretty good so far.

The crowning thing imo is we have the original Atomix server maker.   It's a little different with the new stuff, but cool.

Once we get Olaf to help us with the hostname issue, then Xpert wont be able to reset it anymore on us.
