Subject: Packeting

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Did you read my topic, "GIVE ME HIS IP!" i didnt think that nukeing does anything, with packet control, and xp not having the weaness, and general firewalls blocking out bad requests, and the only thing is packet flooding that semi works because there computer simply cant handle the amount of indo, but still a good firewall can block incoming stuff from a attacking ip, or restarting the computer, or turning off and on the modem usually solves the problem even!