The only GTA games I've played are GTA III, GTA:SA, GTA IV, and GTA:TLatD.

I played SA a lot. I don't know why people think the stat keeping is so confusing. I really had to try to neglect them if there were going to hinder me in anyway... Seriously, if I wanted to die of starvation, I would have had to go afk for 5 hours for it to first give me a warning that I need something to eat..

When IV came out, I wasn't really planning on getting it. I heard a lot of good things about it though and was soon taken in. I actually really liked the game. It was an INCREDIBLE jump from their previous games. The story had that same GTA feel to it that the other games did except this time it actually felt like the characters weren't just empty shells of pixles.

The only gripes I had with GTA IV were the:

1. Lack of weapons
2. Lack of customization (custom cars, variety of cloths, etc)
3. Lack of a music player

I bought Episodes from Liberty City and have been playing The Lost and the Damned. Afterward I'm going to start The Ballad of Gay Tony.

As for my favorite, I'm going to go with GTA IV.
