I should've played Renegade or Bad Company 2. Perhaps that if I would've had MW2 that would've been an alternative as well.

Completely agree. Also, the chat feature seems to be borked in the beta, so it feels like I'm playing with a bunch of bots. No FPS nowadays seems to do socialising and community building as good as Renegade. I don't know about Battlefield because I don't play it but attempting to make any friends online in MW2 is a complete fail mainly thanks to the lack of dedicated servers.

I also wonder why I haven't found a server that switches map every so much rounds. I guess that feature isn't done yet

AFAIK MoH has only 1 map per gametype at this moment xD

Well, then switch gamemodes every 2 or something rounds... It can't be that hard....

It indeed shouldnt but i guess the hosters are only intrested in 1 particular gamemode xD

Im kinda wondering whether its already there... It seems to have been made on the same engine as BFBC2 xD
