clanwars.cc is a smaller atmosphere than a public server where people from all over the place play all the time; most people know each other the percentage of violent douchebags from cw.cc is higher than the percentage of violent douchebags from any public server, and that's just because clanwars is what it is people that care enough to compete in a league compared to people who probably don't give a shit whether their team wins or loses should produce these results, and it's not surprising
