Is that why you PM'd me back the next day thanking me, telling me what settings you wanted, and even linking me a copy of the pointfix SSGM plugin from a private BI FTP before it was ever released to the public (how else would I have gotten it before SE made that post in the FDS section?).
No, it's why I always stopped short of actually agreeing to make your server an official clanwar server.

Quote:fucking retard, im sure BlackIntel's gonna appreciate you giving away links to files on their webserver before they release it themselves....if thats what you do for people "you don't trust", I can only imagine what you do for people you do.

It was never said to me that I should decline the pointfix to a funwar/lobbywar/whatever server that asked for it.

Troop, you're talking shit again.

We did at some point give the pointfix to Crimson, Jelly, and a short while after that CW/Spoony. Spoony was allowed to use it for Clanwar servers, whether public or private.

TK2 also had a copy, but that was because at the time they were our partners.

Spoony and I have our fair share of disagreements, but in this case he's just plain right.
