So troops's actions are very damaging.

Somewhat.

Will it really kill the game?

No.

I am trying to be optimistic.

Good, stay that way.

What's the damage control on this thing? How many months before any new strains of cheats?

It's not that bad really, from what I've seen really. Also, anyone with 4.0, it automatically triggers [BIATCH]'s netcode hack detection because of the different netcode in 4.0 being different. Ya people probably got a sneak peak at what TT looks like, but there's no anti-cheat in there or anything important. And from the logs, looks like this code is over 6 months old. The binaries are recent but not the code.
