
Subject: Re: Next Bi-Weekly Scheduled Game: December 5th
Posted by GoTWhiskéY on Fri, 03 Dec 2010 16:56:03 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

My original plan was to just get some lobby wars going. I'm glad its taken off like it has. And that teamspeak changer - haven't got to use it yet, but it sounds awesome. I always wanted something like that, even way back in the 'cugsworld' days.

The more Ren, the better.

But with that said, you guys did sort of step on our toes by placing an event a day before our previously scheduled event. Now players might show up Saturday, get their fill, and not return for Sundays game.

Spoony is a good team leader to have during the games, but I wouldn't be re-scheduling events over his absence. We don't really need someone to 'organize' anything anymore. At 3 PM, You just jump into teamspeak, just into the server, and go. No need to pick teams, etc.

You didn't realize though, so no problem. We'll see how things go this weekend and make decisions from there.
