
Subject: Re: Who is the best Renegade player(s) nowadays?

Posted by Spoony on Mon, 06 Dec 2010 19:46:41 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

GoTWhisKéY wrote on Mon, 06 December 2010 13:28I'm being dense? You're being a cocky smartass prick!
gosh, chill out

Quote:You're doing the same thing that you're excusing us of doing... making excuses.
wow, you really are being dense.

when i brought up all the evidence that points to me being better than hitman, hitman says it doesn't count because insert-excuse-here (usually it's "i wasn't trying". why that's worth a damn is beyond me, if anything it subtracts from his case).

when hitman loses islands because the game suffered from random afk guys, i never said the game counted for much. i never boasted about the inevitable win. i certainly wouldn't use that in a "best player" thread. but when hitman wins a 8v6 by three seconds, that shows how great he is and i'm not? wow. if he's so very much better than me, why is the best he can do to point to an 8v6 he only won by a hair?

no, no excuses from me. i never said the game didn't count, i never said he didn't win. i simply said that for him to try to use that to prove how good he is is laughable.

we've already agreed that these random afk players is a problem. if it wasn't, we would all agree that islands was a worthwhile victory, and i certainly never said it was. we wouldn't be talking about how to tweak these events to cut the problem down, etc etc etc. therefore, these are legitimate things to say in response to someone boasting about winning.

Quote:You brought up your win ratio in the first series of lobby wars as a point toward your rene-superiority. When you do something like that, you're damn right you better back it up. are you forgetting that hitman won't allow all the other stuff i brought up to be considered in the equation at all? neither did you, of course. the only thing we're allowed to talk about are lobbywars. just how badly do you want to rig this argument?

Quote:The next series comes along and Hitman tears you a new bunghole. But of course those don't matter since you were apparently handicapped every loss. You're handicapped alright... winning a 8v6 by three seconds is "tearing me a new bunghole", is it? how low your standards are. in hitman's shoes i would have been wondering why the fuck we came as incredibly close to losing a 8v6...

Quote:your right spoony, everything was fair other than on your side, you would of won every single game if it was fair, my team was never afk or doing anything else but their very best, i was about to ask all of them to join my clan just because they impressed me this much despite of it being random teams every game you are the best, the cream of the crop!

so therefor i would like to congratulate you and say that i was absolutely honored to be given the opportunity to ever be in your clan, but that cannot be compared to how honored i am that u said i was your first choice of teammate... i must stop typing now, i said i wasn't gonna post again but i just realized how blessed i truly am, if u send me some kleenex i will gladly whipe my tears away with it and keep it with me forever so i have proof that i actually got the chance to play with you if my grandchildren many years from now will not believe that i played with the one and only renegade prophecy, which im sure they will not.

THANK YOU

whatever makes you feel better about losing the argument again. anything's better than admitting you were wrong again. spout this crap if it eases your bruised ego, and by all means sidestep the fact you pulled a simpee and got caught lying because it seemed preferable to just conceding a point to spoony.

although i will repeat the advice i've given you quite a few times already, with a bit more urgency this time:

calm down
