
Subject: Re: Who is the best Renegade player(s) nowadays?

Posted by Spoony on Mon, 06 Dec 2010 22:23:41 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

what a surprise that yet again you sidestep the fact you got proven wrong AND caught lying but ok, change the subject again, i'll still tell you why you're wrong about this too

Hitman wrote on Mon, 06 December 2010 15:55 people on my team were going afk quite alot aswell, i wasn't playing serious on volcano it's really amazing that you think "i wasn't trying" is something anyone on the other team ought to give a shit about. if it shows anything, the only thing it could show is that you feel a little uneasy about how incredibly close that 8v6 game was, and perhaps you need to find a reason why you only won it by three seconds.

if your team had lost volcano, they would've been completely justified in saying it was entirely your fault. we're still talking about who's the best player, aren't we?

Quote: whiskey was afk in the start and people like ioncloud went afk a few times aswell, i just dont care enough like u to explain every possible factor as to why its not fair other than the islands case which was quite obvious and not comparable, its your fault for playing in a game without password then complaining about it afterwards when u got your ass kicked...

it's now obvious, hitman, that this is not just a case of you being thick as pigshit and unable to understand really simple things that are said slowly and carefully and repeatedly. this is a case of you intentionally lying to try to get out of admitting you were wrong about anything. like i said, it's really sad what this thread has done to you... your anger has completely taken over.

you're the one who desperately tried to dismiss islands. well guess what, nobody on my team said it was a worthwhile game OR tried to say it proved anything about who's a good player. it obviously meant a lot to you, though. odd, that... it didn't mean much to anyone on GDI. by contrast, all i've done is point out that you had a huge number advantage on volcano and field, after you try to use these games to win an argument. it obviously bothers you a great deal, you seem to think i'm not allowed to point out the inconvenient details of this game, the fact that you only won an 8v6 by three seconds on volcano, the fact you were getting thrashed on field (big points lead + your ref was dead) right up until our team suddenly dropped and it became 8v5 for an unknown reason.

had anyone on my team made a big deal about islands and said "see i told you spoony was better than hitman" you would have been completely justified in pointing out the problems caused by random afk guys. the problems were there in the other games too, especially volcano, but since you won (by the tiniest of margins) and since you think you can use that win to salvage an argument you're getting completely shown up in, suddenly the problem you referred to yourself on Islands doesn't exist anymore?

Quote: u made a major comeback on under the last few minutes while u were being dominated the entire game and we just kept u back the last few minutes well done. again, we had two players who were sbh all game and barely had 100 points between them. still, results are results, you did win by a couple of hundred points. in what sense that is "domination" or "ass kicking" i'm not quite sure, but congratulations.

Quote:what it comes down to: u have claimed to be the best from the start of this thread, yet the results aren't there no, what it comes down to is you've been wrong a shitload of times, caught lying a few times, dodge every point you can't think of an answer to, dismiss any evidence that goes against you and look with absurd tunnel-vision at any evidence you think works for you. who cares that it was 8v6 all game, what matters is you won, eh? well, the question wasn't can you win an 8v6 by three seconds. if that was the question, we'd be a little surprised to meet a clanwars pro who couldn't, wouldn't we?

Quote:get the results then maybe people will care what u have to say on the forums?
i think you mean "get the results and then maybe hitman will find a reason why they don't count", as you were doing before we did those lobbywars.

calm down btw... seriously edit since you edited your post

Quote:u can't claim #1 by posting alot lol, while u have been trying that since the very beginning of this topic uh no. the important thing is that everything i've said has been right so far (despite your failed attempts to debunk it, and your pathetic attempts to lie about stuff i didn't even say), not how many times i've needed to repeat it thanks to your stupidity and ignorance

Quote:your obviously out for some recognition that u do not deserve in anyones eyes i really don't care whether anyone thinks i'm best player or not, if you're confused about that. it's obviously extremely important for both you and simpee.

Quote:i started this topic out friendly and u went all hardcore in it instantly wow lol, you really are thick as pigshit. i was just calmly answering the question, you're the one who went berserk
