Fail.

And for the record, fail is a verb, and is something you do, like fail at English. The act of failing is "failure," and is a noun. People can be failures, but they can't be "fails." That doesn't make sense. So when you miserable pieces of shit say "fail," what you really mean is "failure."

Trust me, I am rather intelligent whenever it comes to english. I speak it and have studied/am studying it in college right now. I know exactly what I was doing.

This is the internet. Not an essay, exam, or lecture in college.

P.s. Fail.
