Just gave it a quick go on LAN..

The map looks really nice and I want to congratulate you on that however I really think the map is too big. I know compared to other new maps its quite small but if you lose wf/as you have a nice walk back to base.

I got a recon bike and went passed the strip and turned left up the hill and my bike flipped... I didn't realize you couldn't get up there.. Maybe you can add a visual blocker?

Gren alt fire seems a little over powered.. I think I was dealing just over half a bar of dmg to a mammoth during testing... 2 or 3 grenadiers could do some serious dmg.

The new mammy model looks nice but I think the turret moves around too quickly for a mammoth.

Would have been nice if you could land on the side of the mountain directly right of the ob so you could perhaps snipe from there?

I heard (what I assumed at the time) to be the waterfall... although it only played once and didn't come back on?
