erm, yeah, and if you look on the site, you will see a link for renguards website .

But until Renguard is released, this is going to be the best solution.

Also, what if someone gets round renguard? What if a certain individual made an anti-renguard piece of software? Then we are just going to be where we are now.

So if we can ban as many IP's and usernames as possible, renegade could be a cheat free environment for big servers.
