1. I never said it was definitive proof. If I did, my words were misinterpreted. Either way, big fucking deal - get over it.

2. Liquid is spot on. I'm impressed that they can continue working on this dead mod when it's clear that their fanbase consists only of people whose idea of constructive feedback is "ZOMG EPIC BLARG!!1!1"

3. The thought of WhitETrashYWood never entered my mind this week until I got around to reading your abortion of a reply. I was too busy enjoying my hot tub and pool to wonder what a GameStop employee was going to do with the rest of his life.

Hey, sweetie! I missed you all weekend long!

Regarding the wallywood thing, I often find myself at odds with how Wallywood handles things, but I doubted that he would do something like that. That's why I wanted to see proof if there was any. Wouldn't have surprised me if you made it all up for attention though.

I guess you missed all the threads discussing gameplay and such. They are pretty hard to see when you are focused on looking for any inflammatory posts Wallywood might have made.

Anyways, Congratulations on the new house! That's awesome to hear, I also heard you got a pretty cool job lately. With how things are going nowadays, any job is looking good.

//I'm not, but thanks for your own concerns! I'd take them more seriously if it weren't for [inane reasoning].

//Love being paid to help my fellow students in the field I am majoring in.

///Yeah, some still are, and some are actually striving to have a GPA above a 3.0 while they are done. Unlike some others who came to a lackluster finish.
