Anyone want to set up a page? I'll host it on my website. I'm not a great web developer - you'll notice that my website is a massive image map. It does what I need it to do.

I'll talk to Crimson and see if I can get her to host it or make a page for it. She seems interested in the project, and she's a lot more talented at web design (by a factor of about 500) than I am.

Liquid:

I'm thinking that style of pin, sans Colonel Sanders. I think it would look the most impressive and would be something that attracted attention.