But i appreciate that u guys like to discuss over my community, keep it up, and if u ever feel like u need a lag-free aow game you are welcome to join my servers,if not, np others will do you have no community or player base the only time your server has players is when you arrange all your home town buddys and other buddys and get them all to join at same time hopeing other may follow.

I did see about 12 in there other week st-john - sarah-fee-protos ect all giveing you a little support the fact you made it know you was involved in the server at start was it's down fall . if it had just popped up in list we may have given it a try and it could have done well . but you had to let all know dj-cry was open a server and you seald it's fate .

let say if it ever did get a good player base like area54 did then you and you mods would soon ban or run out any players with your attitudes towards players.

I think a new law should be writen that anyone who joins eikes server will be life banned at all other servers .

dj-eye-k is the bacteria that eats away at the teeth of renegade and we need to brush like crazy to remove this germ from our game ps .. forgive the pun

pic taken about 3 mins ago rofl.....fail mr lonely
