why lie, hitman? that was a 2v1 and you know it. you were gdi wallsfly in a 2v1. gdi wallsfly in a 1v1 is almost an automatic win, so it would be fucking embarrassing for you if you didn't win a 2v1 no matter how good your opponent, and it shows a massive insecurity on your part that you even mention that game to try to make any point at all.

lol? uhuh i stole your flamer, u had no money left im pretty sure, i killed your pp or ref or something, pretty sure it ended right there, even if somebody was on my team (dont recall), he obviously didnt stop you from getting off 400, which is the maximum you can get with a engineer, regardless if u think walls fly is an automatic win, i didnt do it the way u would expect that win, i just chilled at your strip, waiting for you to buy a vehicle, killed you and stole it, like i said already, rather sure the game was done right there, 2nd player on team or not.

i was only giving an example as to why i think 1v1's are stupid ps: if anything it was a 2v2, just looked at the score and neither of our team's score adds up entirely, but it doesn't really make a difference, game was over when i stole flamer
