As far as I know, in Rene-society by far the most deviant act we have is cheating: if you're playing a VIDEO GAME in which the players are supposed to all have an equal footing, then the worst thing a player can possibly do is artificially kick everyone's ass (like you have previously) and then brag about how good they are - even though they're not. And being the most deviant act, pretty much every server in Renegade has always punished offenders with the worst punishment we have (aside from DDoSnerds) - the banhammer.

"Being a tool" on the otherhand might as well be the norm in Rene-society, considering all the tools we've had over the years (yourself included). But being a tool generally does nothing much more than annoy people. Using triggerbot and raping everyone in a sniper server (ARTIFICIALLY) ruins the entire premise of playing a video game.

So remind me, who is the "tool" again?
good post, just one thing I'd amend though... the worst thing in renesociety isn't cheating (that's the 2nd worst, and itself probably takes another second place to actually creating the cheats) - worst thing is crashing servers/ddosing ppl etc
