@Mad_Ivan: Yeah I played with you a fair bit. I was also the one who made the "JJ best aircraft" comment as a joke.

I agree with ACK that the game is a "chore" to play, it also feels kinda directionless with large maps and virtually all units take ages to kill, infantry weapons for the most part feel wonky and weird unit balance. I've lost the count of times I'm at the front of the enemy's team base and I then I hear one of my buildings been attacked just for no one being able to defend it because they're in field and there are 3 enemy infantry in the building.

Hope they'll work on improving it. It was really fun to play (except for a bunch of trolls who didn't get muted) but I can't see myself playing it any longer than I have now, it's already getting old.
