

---

Subject: Re: Good job

Posted by Aircraftkiller on Fri, 04 Jul 2014 17:10:35 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

This is like the only game community I've ever seen where people actively bother to stab one another in the back to create new "game communities" with weird names and tragically empty forums. This game would barely register a heartbeat if it were a person and you two think it's a brilliant idea to create another "gaming community" which boils in mediocrity just like every other Renegade community that splits off and tries to become something other than Renegade.

With Renegade you're left with 10 people at most. Without Renegade, you're just another bit of fungible gamers lost in an endless sea of the Internet and will eventually dissipate into other communities that are much larger than you can ever hope to be.

He's got a point, though. It's your money, piss it away if you want

---