Yes, its about what we do next with scripts for Renegade.

Right now we cant build scripts for Renegade because we dont have a working build system for the 4.x scripts releases and there are 3 ways forward:

- 1.Try and find all the right bits and build steps needed to build 4.x builds using the current build process
  - 2.Forget about that and switch 4.x to use the same setup as the current 5.0 scripts builds (for APB and etc) are using (Visual C++ 2017) which would mean dropping support for Windows XP
  - or 3.Forget the whole thing and just stop scripts 4.x development for good (obviously not the preferred option)
