Hello, just replied to your PM. I can usually be found on Discord. Sorry, it looks like the emails from this site go to spam, so I missed the message until I was going through my spam folder earlier xD

Just as a forewarning, it's really old code that probably requires very significant adjustments -- it was written before scripts 4.0 for example, and as a modification to SSGM rather than a proper plugin. The main remaining value is probably just as a reference for the offsets of the various assets/models.
