Well...I'm an A+ (certified 5 years ago), MCSE (NT, 2k), MCP+I, MCT, CCNA, CCNP, CCDA, and CCDP, along with a few other things.

I'm into hardware as well and I also do development (VB, VB.NET, other MS languages, obviously HTML, some PHP, some Java), plus software and when I have time, gaming.  Also I have an interest in electronic stuff in general, so I'm into things like robotics as well.

I've been in in the field for a while (at least relative to my age   ), but it's only a hobby

On topic though, I wouldn't be able to help out in posting news - I'm actually looking for people to post news or contribute to TechAutos (my new site, launched in March, focusing on computers/technology as well as cars, my other hobby   ).  Even if you can't contribute much, please visit and register (free of course), post on the forums, or whatever you want.
