Actually what i meant to imply was that when people get tired of renting servers, which is inevitable , and if someone from the EXISTING community wants to make one, How will they make one huh >??

I dont think the number of people playing renegade online will ever increase dramatically in any way....

I just think that when someone decides not to rent a server any more they should give the key to someone else...

I was probably a little too dramatic "renegade is dying"

LoL i looks like a moron O_O
