I hope I get well soon, I have to take a new pill I got yesterday, Albuterol 2 puffs every 4 hours, Singular 1 pill a day, and Advair 2 puffs a day, one in the morning and one at night. I couldn't sleep well at all Thursday night, I think I only got an hour of sleep I kept waking up every ten minutes after I would fall asleep, litterally, I was watching the clock in my bed room the whole time while petting my kitten that was laying next to my bed, at about 4 o'clock I finally went downstairs to use the bathroom, I got some water then layed on my couch trying to fall asleep but with no success. Then it was Friday which is where my first post comes into place. I can't believe I'm stuck in my house untill my temperature is gone for 24 hours. Ohh well, it's a weekend I probably would have stayed at home anyways. My best friend has been out sick all week due to the flu, except maybe Friday since I wasn't at school on Friday. . . Thank You MonkeyPhonic!
