Renxgo into a game, buy a sniper, walk up to sumone inside a building on your team, then shoot them in the head. It wont hit the wall diffectly behind their head, it will change direction when it goes through their head. the same thing happens after weapons meet the maximum amount of infatry they can go through.

Interesting. Might explain what I posted on the previous page:

Another one was on C&C_City_Flying. I was Nod, and GDI's AGT was down. I was a Sakura and was shooting from the roof of the WF. After a while two pissed GDI's come on the roof and start attacking me. I fail to kill them initially, until I managed to kill both of them with one shot, while they weren't lined up! It was probably lag, but on my screen one of the two was about a meter more to the left than the other one...it was very strange.
