Ohh my god that kid has a video camera and it is pointed at me! He is stealing my soul with satin's powers OMG! That sounds like it would be funny just to walk around with a video camera pointing it at everyone, better home they don't come after you in an angry mob with pitch forks though. What would really freak them out is those computers that you can wear it has the little screen that comes down in front of your eye, if you had one of those that would probably scare the shit out of all of them.
