

---

Subject: Please Stop

Posted by MonkeyPhonic on Fri, 09 Jan 2004 20:33:14 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

But at best it's bisexual behaviour, as far as I am aware there has never been documented cases of any animal consciously or otherwise displaying purely homosexual behaviour in preference to heterosexual behaviour. In fact, homosexual behaviour in animals is almost exclusively used to assert dominance and not in any way used as a means of affection.

If people want to be gay, let em. Don't feel the urge to justify it. If people want to use God as an excuse to hate people they don't understand, let em. It's their choice. It's not their fault if their so stupid as to realise that that kind of attitude is what sends suicide bombers into innocent people. Being told that God says it's the right thing to do.

---