Heh. Mr Pirate. Read my post, then read the year I put. Sound kind of like a joke, maybe a little sarcasm? Good nature laugh to try and lighten up the situation? Nah, your to in depth with your mindset that you couldnt pull your head out of your ass if you tried. Second, why swear, does it make your 12 year old mind(once again, feel the sarcasm?) feel like a real big tough guy? Third, words dont work. Learn it. Nothing worth fighting for ever gets settled with words. If you disagree with me, and want to make something out of it, then my italian temper is going to take its toll on you. Shit kicked out of me huh? Hmm, interesting. Id rather get the shit kicked out of me for something I believe in rather than just being a dumb protesting hippy who has no real idea of what the world is about. Get off your drugs.(That was not directly pointed at you, I dont no if you do drugs, but it was a generlized statement)

I have my opinions.You have yours. If they dont like that then you know what? They can just go ahead and blow me, oh no wait, they actually would want to do that..... :rolleyes: (once again Im getting the vibe of sarcasm)

Ill be honest, im not going to HATE you because your a homosexual. Im goign to HATE you if you go aroudn and parade around saying you are one for the attention, for the drama, for the looks of people, and to cause discussions like these. If I were at work, and a homosexual came in, didnt flaunt it, but was just holding his/hers partners hand, I would not have a big problem with that. I might feel a little uncomfortable, crack a few jokes, hell I might even get a giggle or two out of it. But I would not hate them nor treat them differently, other then the fact that they might try to hit on me and get my phone number!
