Just thought i would give you guys alittle heads up.

xfire is a buddylist program that works for mostly all games. (They just recently put renegade on the game list.)

Just add your buddies to it and it will tell your what game they are playing - What map it is on and you can double click them and join that game straight from your desktop.

Add me

IceSword7

It will show me on your list then under that it will show all of my friends that are one.
