Ignore him, I know I did.

Allow me to make it so some of you aren't confused about what this script does.

It uses a BR .Net channel to retrieve information from the BR .Net bot, and puts it in a GUI, thereby making it easier for server moderators to better do their job of keeping an eye on the servers they moderate, as well as make it easier for those who dislike mIRC and its interface. It is in no way a server-side regulation app, it is entirely client side and can be used by admins, but also by moderators.
