I would just like to update this. The random crashes to desktop, etc was happening alot to me today. I pulled my computer out to change the CPU fan, unscrewed the powersupply and pulled it out and damn near dropped it because it was so hot. Then I noticed it says 'Max output 160W'. Well damn, I said... that works great for a GF2GTS, but for a 9500 Pro, its not going to work that great. So I went out and bought a new case with a decent 420W PS (an upgrade for my future hammer system too , and haven't had a hiccup since...

the point is: you could have a cheap power supply.
