

---

Subject: www.whatreallyhappened.com

Posted by NeoSaber on Thu, 20 Mar 2003 20:41:00 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

havocsnipethe depleted uranium shells from the last war caused lots of cancer to the citizens of iraq and also to the US troops who served in the last war.

This latest sandstorm which is still occurreing all around the tropps contains this depeleted uranium, now US troops are breathing this.

Bush don't give a dam about this cause the sytoms will appear long after the war has finished.

Depleted uuranium once inhaled into the lungs causes long term sufering and painful death. like I said bush and co will never send their kids to fight this war.

People who support this are cowards, it's all fine sitting in front of your telly or PC and say this war is good. Your not in danger,
Go out and fight the iraq's yourselves.

I never said depleted uranium was healthy, I was talking about what brought about its use. Geez, is that all you could come up with? I talk about the causes and effects of how weapons come to be and all you can talk about is the health hazards of depleted uranium.

I'd say people who don't support the war are cowards. They are too afraid about what harm may come to them to try to help fellow human beings.

---