
Subject: Unit Balance

Posted by Fabian on Sun, 02 May 2004 02:14:09 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

uhh.... Am i missing something?

Ramjet Rifles have rocket propelled bullets and are most likley armor peircing. If things like that existed in real life, it is very realistic that they could down an apache (most likely by killing the pilot).

Don't like getting shot down? Don't fly. Orcas and Apaches are fun, but they don't win games.

I don't see the point of balancing the game unless Nod or GDI won the majority of games...which simply isnt the case.
