

---

Subject: Reloading of Flying vehicles.

Posted by SuperFlyingEngi on Tue, 04 May 2004 00:50:07 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I know! For the orca, how about you fit it with a modified vulcan cannon on the front that basically consists of six of the U.S.S. North Carolina's 19 inch guns put together into minigun form! It would shoot about 100 tons of lead and explosives a second!

But moving on, I like the idea of snipers no longer hurting aircraft, aircraft not needing to refuel (a tank of gas lasts a chopper hours) and the Orca and Apache having different weapons.

---