

---

Subject: "Flickering Fairies"

Posted by Aircraftkiller on Tue, 18 May 2004 07:54:50 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Not really. If Einstien attempted to speak Indian, you think bad grammar in that makes him unintelligent? It just means he's ignorant when it concerns that language, not that he's an idiot.

With your example, you say two different things. You say grammar is one factor in how you're going to judge others, and you say that communicating properly is another way to judge their intelligence.

Looking at the fact that he got his point across with "Your an idiot," and it was perfectly legible... I can only believe that you're contradicting yourself.

---