To think that I was foolish enough to let this idiot join my team. Well thanks, moderators, for taking down the link, and thanks Blazea and Ramjet for deleting the file from his webserver. For those of you who didn't know, Deadaim00 is a mapper that requested to join the team. I wasn't going to give him any of the alphas, but one of the other crew members gave it to him without knowing that he wasn't supposed to recieve it. In any case, Deadaim00 never completed a single decent map, was incredibly annoying, and pestered me constantly for our alphas, even though I told him he needed to do some work. In short, he is an unproductive, assclown who has no business in any position of power.

And crimson, I would greatly appreciate it if you would ban him - this community has no need for people who are just out to exploit and abuse the few good mods in progress.
