In fact, I'm seriously considering shutting down one of my windows servers because prices are so low for them these days, any idiot with $150 a month is running one and RenGuard or not, there just aren't enough players for all the servers that are going up. Plus, I put the servers up because there weren't enough servers up at the time... now that every idiot and his uncle can afford to host a large server, there's no need for me to waste my money any longer and I can devote the time I spend maintaining them to RenGuard.

Amen.
