Command & Conquer Renegade: Sole Survivor will be ready to launch once we finish getting the info about it back up on Dri Reign (thanks a ton to Crimson for getting us back online). We would like to have some download mirrors and dedicated servers ready by launch time. If you can help out with either of these two things by offering server bandwidth or download bandwidth, it would be much appreciated. For those interested in hosting the download, it is approximately 80 MB and is an executable installer. If you are interested in helping, please email me for more information:

Thanks.
