Subject: The Pits allows cheaters on their server?

I did make a public apology, on this thread and on your forums. I still won't play on your server until RenGuard is running again regardless of whose fault it is that you're not running it and regardless of the reason, even if I understand the reason, respect the reason, and am doing what I can to work towards resolving it, the simple fact remains that I do not like to play when player could potentially be cheating.

However, I repeat that I humbly apologize on behalf of myself and my brother for any embarrassment you might have suffered at our hands.
