louisas part of the agreement we made, xptek should be banned from these forums. and you know just as well as i do that the two are the same in everything but what label you want to use. STFU and realize that xptek was banned from BC and NS for a good reason, but that shouldn't take away from him giving to the community and being a part of it. These forums are a combination of both communites and many others along with individuals who don't belong to a secondary community. He's on here because he's part of the community.
