I chose to add this modern gun to the mod because it has a kick ass design and I think it fits very well in Reborn. Sorry for those who don't like it or prefer to stick like hell to TS...

Enjoy it !

It will be the shotgun of the devil's demolisher and the bomb specialist.

it is almost like the original model, the single modification is the light added on the second barrel.

I almost forgot to say it :

Model : Permagrin
Unwrap : E!
Texture : Renardin

(I hope you all know now that it is a TS based mod not a copy of the rts game. It's more than that.)

And now, the fun part :

Final model coming soon... See what happens when Cabal get a virus, Cyborgs go nuts... (--> as Permargin says)

In-Game version is more like my avatar. W3D final Render coming soon.

The tube beneath the barrel is where the bullets are stored in, the flash light should be an attachment below this tube.

The feet on the robot look way too boxy, they look silly since the rest of the robot is curved.

(Permagrin doesn't even UVW map his own models???)

Everything but the barrel on the shotgun looks like concrete.

The Cyborg looks like he's made of the same Barbie toy plastic.

So... What's your point? What does that have to do with anything?

There could be a number of reason he doesnt unwrap his own models. They way he does it is unsatisfactory for the texture artist , he doesnt do it right , he doesnt know how to do it , ect...

They looks nice. The spas-12 looks good and the cyborg looks ok , I think his arms are too short and it looks like someone was trying to model nike's on him. (as I already said :S)

I think the spas-12 needs a flashlight modeled underneath instead of a texture over the bottom muzzle.

AircraftkillerEverything but the barrel on the shotgun looks like concrete.

Hm...I think it looks more like smudgy crap metal.

Either way, the SPAS 12 texture needs to be re-done, and the cyborg's feet should be bevelled a little bit.

---

See, the texture on the main body of the gun isn't some smudgy crap, but instead it's just grainy plastic. Oh, and I think you should just remove the flashlight from the texture, and I wouldn't bother putting a flashlight under the cylindrical magazine.

EXdeath7There could be a number of reason he doesnt unwrap his own models. They way he does it is unsatisfactory for the texture artist , he doesnt do it right , he doesnt know how to do it , ect...

Then he should learn how to UVW map his own models, the modeler is the one who's supposed to do that...

Sir Phoenixx(Permagrin doesn't even UVW map his own models???)

I can unwrap. As I stated in other threads, I can not do it quiet so good as others on the team. I am still learning to make my unwraps better by unwrapping personal projects. So why have a "so-so" unwrap when someone else on the team can do it better?

Use an alpha texture on the gun, I hate seeing black holes. Makes any model look like crap.

The cyborg looks like a cyborg, but it looks massively disproportionate. You have this huge head/chest and then midget arms and short legs.

What the fuck are you talking about? Did you even try reading what I wrote, or did you just feel like posting a random idiotic reply? Everything you said after "It was rendered..." was completely random.
