Everytime I open brenbot this happens..

It just started today, it takes several trys to open brenbot. Is there something wrong? Or was something wrong with the mIRC network?

Why does it take so long to start brenbot up?

It can mean two things:

- 1) There are too many connections from his (the same) IP to the n00bstories irc which disallows the bot to connect.
- 2) The nickname the bot uses is already in use (maybe a ghost of the bot - usually disappears after a minute or so)
