Here are 2 ways to remove it. :rolleyes:

Option #1 - Run the installation program again, select Remove Option #2 - Start > Control Panel > Add/Remove Programs > RenGuard

LOL. Thats the most original excuse to get rid of RenGuard ever.
"To gain some free space" .. Oh yeah, uninstalling RenGuard will give you Gigabytes of free space man.

If you ensist:

Right click on the Renegade directory, press and hold <SHIFT> then click on delete and confirm with "Yes", confirm again by pressing "Yes to all" and carry on.
