Typical script kiddie mentality of "I'll fuck you up just because I can" and getting off on causing people misery. Assholes like this will never get far in life, and we will all have the last laugh since they will probably end up pissing off someone in person and getting their teeth knocked out, or get caught doing something illegal and become bubbas bitch at the big house :twisted:

He is using 2-3 exploits:
UDP flood attack (ping goes to 9999 kicks)
WOL IRC Server nick name flood (wol irc kicks server offline because of too many player requests)
UDP scan attack (will only work on servers not running my udp scan patch)

I might just stop hosting my Renegade server altogether. If there are lamers going around that do this, I'm wanting to waste my dedicated server resources on other game servers, such as Halflife 2 or Cs:Source.

On another note, someone should establish a prize to see who can crash c0brala's computer first.

Because no one wants to play anything better. They'd rather play something unbalanced that looks like a horse's ass instead of playing something that's balanced, like the RTS, and fun.

Yes, I just love the DX9 shader effects, the high-quality and fantastically capable netcode, the superb physics and the easy-to-use mod tools that require you to reverse engineer the game to make a mod.

Fantastic.

There's nothing wrong with the physics at all in W3D, (as usual) it just wasn't utilized properly to make Renegade.

The network code is decent.

DX9 shaders are neat and all, but DX8 still works great.

Why don't you work on sorting out your own mistakes then? Rather than correcting everyone else's grammatical or spelling errors. You call yourself a perfectionist, and yet you dont check what you are writing for errors?
