I believe the Cargo Plane sound is bugged, because every time the plane swoops in, it's this explosion of like three sounds playing at once, and they don't even finish all the way. I don't know if this has been reported before or is being worked on right now, but I would definitely like to see this fixed.

Just to add to that, it does play all the way but its only if your on the red part of the landing pad where you die. I think someone messed up the sound options.
