Glyde, saying that will only make Oblivion feel better, as he did this only to receive attention and begging from people. Just ignore him, he's not leaving, I can assure you.

when do i ever want attention? and what was i beggin for? Rethink my motive. Try reading my post on why i was leaving, not what other possibilities could be.

Try actually growing a brain and learning that all "omg im leaving" topics are by idiots who are attention whores that whine about everyone they hate.

i never say anything about anyone in a hateful mannor. Everyone who quits should post their dismissal.
That way everyone knows the projects i work on are also gone.

So far all i have heard is that people who act out are grabbing for attention.

Correction: People who are leaving should post their dismissal IF: 1. People actually care. 2. You're not looked down upon as an idiot. 3. It is well written and doesn't contain idiocy.

Anything else I'm missing?

Apparently, nobody cares if you're leaving, except Glyde, but Glyde doesn't count.   :rolleyes:

You should revise your post to correspond with your rules. It doesnt matter is you dont care for me. As for brains i was 2nd in my class, right behind my brother.

yeah i can agree with that, but its brains with the ability to make yourself stick with something. Devry is a tough school, so out of 200 students, its still quite good.

If I needed to correct every one of your posts you made today, it would take hours. Let me put it this way, you lack proper use of spelling, correct punctuation, and capitalization.
