LOL!

That banner is pretty damn simple to make as I think many people will agree with me.

I'm really not that great at stuff like that.

Plus, I can't use photoshop for toffee, I use Fireworks MX.

Glyde, when you first come out, you're supposed to make a GOOD impression in order to get traffic...but the site is a poor excuse of a site, and showing off something weak is not going to grab anyone's attention. ESPECIALLY since he implied that you could get GOOD graphics from it.

DJMglyde51Anyone want to make me a 350x75 banner with this in it:
TEXT: The Trielite
Sub-Text: Gaming Community and Clan
Special Pictures to Include:

(Shrink to fit)

I would make it, but look at the one in my signature below. Don't add any images other than that, just fancy effects. Only if you have the time.

Wow, I didnt think you'd actually use the logo! I'm glad somebody likes my stuff

I'll have a shot at it for you.

I'd hate to bother you, but are you working on that?

Just wondering

It's one of the standard Windows fonts. I think it's Viner Hand ITC or something.

My avatar is sticking with me. I've had this avatar so long I can't see myself ever using anything different.

A 150x500 pixel image with my name at a size 7 font seems pretty useless.

Does it really matter? It will look strange if you crop/resize that.

Glyde51I dunno
Glyde51It kinda does

It does matter but you don't know why? Interesting

Now compare it to this, the taller one looks better...

I know, the second one does look better, but some of the places that use that website don't like bigger dimensions.

I have a idea, shrink the background (it will look okay shrunk like) and add in the text, only if you have the original left though.

I used your (re-sized) image. It's too good to pass up.

It may look strange, but after giving it a few moments thought, this:

Is better than this:

Thanks DJM! I'll consider this a winter break thingy present.
